How does it work?

Have you ever travelled to a new place and instantly felt at home there? As if it's what you've been missing all along, without knowing it! Perhaps this newfound feeling makes your confidence shine, as if the sun beams straight down on you. Maybe you feel at peace in a way you can't ever recall feeling before. In any case, it makes you feel like a certain part of your SELF and personality is brought to the surface after being hidden away, or undiscovered...until now!

You have a special energetic chemistry with specific places around the globe. Each of these places unlocks different parts of your personality, while also magnetising particular types of experiences to you. This unique chemistry is called Travel Energetics and it allows you to harness your absolute best self by making empowering choices for where you travel or relocate!

We utilise your birth time, date and place in our software to uncover and assess the planetary lines that harbour powerful energies for you around the world. These hotspots are unique to you and no one else, as each one of us has lines criss-crossing and running along different axes! We also pinpoint your challenging energetic places around the world, so you know where to avoid, and perhaps why you've never felt at home in your own hometown! Each planetary line has a range of 300 miles (483 km) on either side, and the closer you are to the line, the more significantly you'll feel its unique energetic effects.

We are so passionate about finding your best places, so you can find your best SELF. Your Travel Energetics Report is really an investment in your future as your unique planetary line placements remain the same throughout your whole life, so you can use your report to guide your travel and relocations plans for the rest of your life.

For your mini report, you've requested to find places for "general happiness," which in Travel Energetics would be found along Sun, Jupiter and Venus lines. However, in assessing your natal chart (which is separate to the Travel Energetics chart) I can see your natal Sun and Jupiter are both very positive, but your natal Venus has some conflict.

It's important to look at the natal chart alongside the travel chart as we can carry positive or negative natal aspects (traits ingrained in us no matter where in the world we are) into our planetary Travel Energetics lines. So, to provide you with the places you are most likely to have the best experiences, your report focuses on only your Sun and Jupiter lines. For your information, I have included information on all other planets.

Sun Line: Your Personal Mastery

- Confidence
- Charisma
- Self-esteem
- Feeling "yourself"

During a stay on your Sun line, you can expect lots of fun and an increase in appetites. Your self confidence and charisma shines and any budget might go right out the window! Indulging in the finest clothes, people and surroundings is important here. You might be seen as more powerful and important, and you'll feel like a star. People tend to act generously towards you, and it's also a great place to succeed in business as others perceive you as a guru or authority. This is the place to go to in order to feel in your element, as though the sun is shining right on you. Be careful though, as areas along your Sun line can also make people feel more overbearing than usual since it also enhances masculine ego tendencies. Longer stays on your Sun line allow you to self-actualise and "find yourself." At your Sun line, your relationships tend to cultivate your self-discovery and maturation.

Jupiter Line: Your Luck Line

- Joyful
- Fortunate
- Expansive
- Attracting Opportunities

Whoever you are, along this line you attract an abundance of opportunities, prosperity, and social status without expending too much effort. Business deals that rely on speculation do well and people in executive positions thrive on the Jupiter line. You could feel more boastful and authoritative bordering on self-important or even arrogant which is something to keep in check! You also feel much more extroverted, optimistic and relaxed here, as if things are simply happening for you. It's a great place for health and wellbeing. Jupiter places are all about joyfulness and feeling less stress, even if your career is typically high-pressured! Along this line, you attract a wealthier and elite class of people. Personally, I feel Jupiter places embody a similar positive energy to the Sun line, albeit with more focus on luck and advancement rather than on developing your personal identity. This is absolutely one of the best Travel Energetics lines, and the most advantageous for those seeking material fortune.

Lucky you! Your Jupiter and Sun lines run parallel to each other throughout your entire Travel Energetics maps. This is incredibly fortuitous! I've included these maps in the following pages!

Tanzania

Zambia

Zimbabwe

Mozambique

Pretoria

Venus Line: Pleasure Gardens

- Beauty
- Sensuality
- Ease and flow
- Attracting romance

Next to the Sun and Jupiter lines, this is my favourite Travel Energetics line! This is the place where you can find love and romance – even rekindling it with a current partner – and immerse in a feeling of complete pleasure and sensuality. The Venus line is the best spot for a honeymoon, and if you're single, a fantastic place to manifest a partner. Women living or staying on here will feel especially magnetic! Developing meaningful relationships with female friends also becomes important here. Creative inspiration is enhanced as you have a deeper appreciation for art and beauty, so spending your days indulging in museums and galleries can feel magical here. This isn't the ideal place to venture in order to feel motivated though, since Venus is all about indulging in appetites of the body. This includes sensual pleasure and foods, so be prepared for more peeled grapes and less drive! On a more practical level, investing in properties along this line will reap financial rewards.

Mercury Line: Intellectualism!

- Cleverness
- Knowledge
- Information
- Communication

This line encompasses all communication, cleverness, and knowledge! You'll feel more switched on, curious and quick-witted in these places and since you feel mentally stimulated, it's the ideal place for verbal expression. However, it's not the most stimulating place for creativity as it's less feeling-based and more mentally-based. And, since it's more thinking than feeling, it's not the best place to go for sex or romance! However, it is the ideal place to go for research, teaching, presenting, writing or pursuing study. If you're looking to do PhD research or perhaps you have the opportunity to come here for a conference, I'd say go for it! Your Mercury line is great for health as well. If you're a passive, overly calm person, you might feel mentally overwhelmed here until you acclimate to the Mercurial energy. This place puts you in touch with your abilities and talents, and helps direct you to where you want to be career-wise.

INNER-GROWTH DESTINATIONS:

*Challenging Places
Instigating Transformation
& Self-growth*

I would not recommend the following lines for an "easygoing" holiday, however there is no such thing as a bad line per say since these planets can empower you if you consciously focus on transcending the challenges presented to you while staying in these places in order to grow from them.

Mars Line: The Warrior

- Assertive
- Dominant
- Masculine
- Go-getting

Combative, easy to anger, hyper-sexual and aggressive - think of this line as bringing out your inner warrior, leaving no prisoners! The feisty Mars line presents opportunities for you to step out of your shell, become more assertive and opportunistic, and go for what you want. If you're generally a meek martyr who allows others to step all over them, this line helps empower and liberate you from people-pleasing. Along this line you feel more determined, driven and definitely more sexual. This is a masculine line so women will step into a more dominant, assertive energy while men will find their masculinity bolstered so be cautious of violent tendencies if you're oriented that way! This is a great place for sports and male-dominated careers, just remember to balance your newfound machismo energy with rest!

Uranus Line: The Angsty Teenager

- Unruly
- Erratic
- Immature
- Changeable

If you're an offbeat hippie thriving off protesting and challenging the status quo, you might like the energy presented to you along the notably erratic and tempestuous Uranus line. If you're an extremist with iconoclastic views - say, a dogged feminist or an individual who feels the current way of the world needs to be overthrown, you will meet others here like you here who also share your extremist views. However, most people who value a feeling of stability, security and permanent life structures will feel upset, restricted and jarred at this line. Men fare better here than women, however be cautious of unexpected events and meetings with strange people. For a long term move, mastering this energy provides an opportunity to discover your feeling of individuality and eccentric side. A holiday here is likely to exacerbate issues with technology and transportation. It will prove to be an adventurous time if you are mindful to let go and embrace changeability and chaos.

Pluto Line: Embrace the Dark Side

- Rebirth
- Intense
- Isolation
- Shadow-side

Pluto energy is all about intensity, upheaval, and isolation. So you can gather it's not the place I'd suggest for you to have a peaceful holiday, though luckily Pluto's intense energy is usually only felt after an extended period of time visiting the line. Mastering Pluto's energy provides an opportunity to connect with your soul's intention by working with the shadow aspects of yourself which may be suppressed - those dark bits you've not dealt with. If you successfully "sit with" and process this energy, it can lead to a powerful transformation in your life. As an anecdote: I studied for two years in Melbourne, considered among the top three most liveable cities in the world. I wanted to love it, I tried to acclimate and make friends (keeping in mind I'm an exceptionally connective and friendly person - I could get a brick wall to speak), however for the entire two years in Melbourne I felt like an outcast, very alone, and processing a lot of dark stuff from my childhood. I believe you can't truly grow until you face and process the challenges that are brought up in your life, so a trip or relocation to this Travel Energetics line may prove to be the opportunity for growth which you wouldn't otherwise experience in the safety and comfort of your own hometown.

Saturn Line: The Disciplinarian

- Intensity
- Hard work
- Responsibility
- Growth through Discipline

Like the Pluto line, thankfully any intensity your Saturn line engenders will most likely only be experienced during a longer stay here. Your Saturn line is all about growth through fortitude, obstacles and hardship. Think of the guy who triumphs the climb up Everest and only loses a couple fingers to frostbite, but gains a heck of a lot of inner strength and resilience through the process. In a longer term stay on your Saturn line, disappointments, drudgery, power struggles, loneliness, a lack of vitality and health decline can all be on the cards. Fun, right? On the positive side, it can be a beneficial line to live on during university study as it promotes focus within a Spartan environment. However, I'd rather recommend your Mercury line instead for study as it has the intellectualism factor without the strife. If you're planning on a longer stay or relocation here, I'd recommend focusing on embracing the sense of purpose and resilience developed through your hard work and determination. It's not a piece of cake, but you'll enhance your self-development upon mastering the Saturnian energy.

Neptune Line: Life is but a Dream

- Vagueness
- Confusion
- Dreaminess
- Floaty Vibes

Let's start with the positive aspects of Neptune. This line can connect you with your spirituality and intuition. For those who work in the arts or spiritual arenas such as dancers, musicians, painters or psychics – whose work relies on creativity and sensitivity – can have their gifts and inspiration greatly improved here. For the more materially-driven people for whom it's important to retain control of themselves or their environment, Neptune poses a challenge. This is because Neptune forces people to let go and question their frame of reality. This line enhances a wishy-washy vagueness of illusion and confusion. You may feel ultra-receptive to those around you, compromising your sense of self and blurring boundaries. If you have an addictive personality, be cautious of the desire to get involved in drugs here as Neptune loves escapism. If you're male, during a long-term stay your Neptune line will see you attracting female partners who embody chaotic and unrealistic tendencies. Relationships developed here are likely to be unsustainable, as manipulative tendencies in relationships are brought forth. Health and vitality also decreases on a Neptune line. If you go with the flow and let down your guard and ego, you may ultimately come out stronger after experiencing this line.

Chiron Line: The Healer

- Places where you've had past lives
- Mysticism
- Helping others
- Healing emotional pain

A stay on your Chiron line is like summoning your inner magical, wounded healer. Living on this line frames our life purpose around helping others. Chiron awakens the occult and mysticism in your life, so living here will inspire you to get involved in more spiritual pursuits. Magical and intuitive abilities are also enhanced on this line. Chiron is not an "easy" line, and significant hardships must be faced when spending extended time here. However, in these places you can make a significant difference in others' lives. You can also address your own wounds including those gained from past lives when you learn to sit with any emotional pain that comes up, which will help you master the Chiron line's energy. However, this line isn't ideal for health and can exacerbate physical or mental health issues. An extended stay on this line brings up opportunities to face issues around low self-worth and not feeling good enough, so you can transcend untrue negative core beliefs you hold about yourself.

Moon's Nodes: Karma

- Origin
- Destiny
- Partnerships
- Karmic past lives

Your Moon's Nodes represent karma and fate. Places on this line feel like home, almost as though you've been here before in a past life. The Moon's Nodes represent areas of energetic sensitivity, though they're not actual planets. You are shown your destiny as future plans which are aligned with your sense of meaning and purpose are revealed. These lines also signify partnerships and highlight the way you relate to people in your relationships. There is nothing particularly "lighthearted" about this line!

Travel Energetics Lines Summary

If you're seeking a light-hearted and easygoing holiday, I tell people to look in the direction of their Sun, Jupiter, Mercury or Venus lines. For you, Christina, I'd personally advise looking at your Sun and Jupiter lines specifically for happiness. If you're either a glutton for punishment, or up for the challenge to do some deep soul searching and self-development try out a sojourn at your Pluto, Saturn, Neptune, Uranus, Moon's Nodes or Chiron lines. If you want to invoke your inner warrior head to your fiery Mars line. To embrace your maternal femininity and don't mind a bit of crazy coming out within you, head to your nurturing but moody Moon line.

Utilising your Travel Energetics Report as a guide to coordinate your holiday and relocation plans is like being given a map of your best chances to be happy, healthy and even more successful. How empowering is it to have your door opened up to a world of possibilities to find yourself!
